Japan To Get Sovereignty Again Monday

TOKYO (AP)—Emperor Hirohito and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of the fading Allied occupation, exchanged brief formal courtesy calls today as the hour neared for Japan's transition to a sovereign state.

Observers said it was unlikely the two would meet officially again after the seven-year Allied occupation ends at 10:30 p. m. Monday (8:30 a. m. EST).

Thirteen times in the past seven years the emperor has slipped quietly out of his palace for an "incognito" visit to Allied headquarters.

But this morning Hirohito appeared as a full-fledged monarch. His glistening black sedan complete with imperial crest—a huge 16-petal chrysanthemum—sped out of the front gate of the palace behind an escort of police motorcycles. The emperor was accompanied by five court officials.

Ridgway Visits Emperor

Ridgway returned the courtesy call this afternoon.

Earlier, in a farewell radio address to the Japanese people, Ridgway said American troops will be withdrawn from Japan as soon as the nation is able to defend itself.

"I hope that day will not be so far distant," he said. "The United States certainly does not want to prolong needlessly the stationing of its troops anywhere abroad."

The occupation commander conceded there probably will be friction between the Japanese and

U. N. Reported Planning Bold Truce Move

Full Dress Meeting Of Armistice Group Scheduled Sunday

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The U. N. Command today was reported planning a new and possibly bold move to break the Korean truce talk stalemate as the Communists agreed to a full dress meeting of armistice delegations Sunday.

There was no indication what the Allies will propose when the five-man delegations of admirals and generals meet at 11 a. m. Sunday. It will be the first plenary session since Feb. 19.

The U. N. called for the session after the Reds Friday broke off secret talks on how to exchange prisoners of war because the Allies said fewer than half the prisoners they hold want to go home.

The Communists said Saturday they would attend the full dress meeting, but asked what the U. N. command wanted to discuss. They were told the subject would be the "armistice agreement."

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official U. N. spokesman, said this was the only answer the Communists would get.

The top negotiators will face three major stumbling blocks to a Korean truce: (1) The dispute over whether prisoners should be allowed to choose whether they will return home; (2) An Allied demand for a ban on airfield construction during an armistice; and (3) Communist nomination of Russia as a neutral inspector.

Prisoner exchange talks were recessed indefinitely Friday after the Allies said fewer than 70,000 of about 169,000 prisoners of war and civilian internees want to return to Communist-held territory.

The Reds had indicated they would not insist that all Allied-held prisoners be returned if they got back about 116,000.

The U. N. command screened all prisoners held on Koje Island to find out how many wanted to return home.

Those who said they would object forcibly to being repatriated were moved to six new camps on the Korean mainland. Fewer than 70,000 remained to await repatriation.

Navy Unveils Compact, Fast New Submarine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The submarine Trigger, new, compact and full of gadgets, was moored here today to show defense officials and Congress members the long strides being made in undersea warfare.

The Trigger, powered with the new radial-type diesel engines, has a higher speed submerged than on the surface, due primarily to the tear-droop streamlining of her hull. The speeds attained may not be disclosed.

Shorter than present fleet submarines, including the Guppy class boats, and with a different hull design, the Trigger can maneuver better than the long, narrow-hulled craft. A small turning circle is highly important to a submarine in both offensive and evasive operation.

The engine room is a marvel of compactness, even for submarines. The fact that the four radial engines stand vertically, instead of horizontally, makes it possible to house the power plant in substantially less space than in other fleet submarines.

Better and roomier crew accommodations are provided. The main crew quarters, located aft, have bunks, fitted with new sponge-rubber mattresses, for 52 men.

Kefauver Raps Faith In GOP To Clean Up U. S. Government

MARION (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver declared today that "those who put all their faith in the Republican party to root out corruption may be sadly disillusioned."

The Tennessean, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said in a speech in this home of the late Republican President, Warren G. Harding, it was during the Harding administration that the famed Tea Pot Dome scandal took place—government oil land was leased illegally.

"We need in both parties," Kefauver said, "to be aware of the kind of men who ruined Harding." "We in the Democratic party," he said, "need to clean up our side of the street and we are doing it. I hope the Republicans will do the same on theirs."

In a talk at Fremont, Kefauver called for an end of sectional differences. Fremont is the birthplace of another late Republican president, Rutherford B. Hayes.

In several speeches in northeastern Ohio yesterday, Estes Kefauver declared Republicans are "more concerned about property rights than human welfare," and the Democratic party is just the opposite.

He advocated 90 per cent parity on farm goods prices and came out for the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Kefauver said he liked Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche, but declined to say whether he would choose Lausche as the vice presidential nominee. After Fremont, Kefauver's itinerary today takes him through speeches, handshakes and smiles at Fostoria, Tiffin, Upper Sandusky, Marion, Bucyrus, Galion, Mansfield and Akron. He flies to Florida tonight.

At the Huron County Jefferson Day dinner here last night Kefauver made a bid for farm and labor votes. "Everybody knows organized labor has come into its own under Democratic administration," said the senator.

"Farmers," he said, "well know they were the forgotten man in those dark days of steadily declining farm prices during the 1920's."

Tonight's The Night To Turn Clock Ahead

Tonight is the night you lose an hour of sleep — or of Saturday night fun.

That is, you do if you are one of the 65 million Americans who live in daylight saving time areas. At 2 a. m., it becomes 3 a. m.

But just to make sure, turn your watch an hour ahead before going to bed tonight or before starting your evening's revels.

And don't worry about the hour. You'll get it back Sept. 28 when standard time sets the clocks back an hour.

John Wood, 12, Of Harrisville Is 1952 Champ

Corinne Adams Of Columbiana Battles Winner For 41 Words

History failed to repeat itself at the Steubenville spelling contest finals Friday night.

And as a result the Salem district will not be represented by a local champion at the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D. C., this May.

But it wasn't for lack of trying on the part of the local students. The three area spellers gave a more-than-satisfactory performance last night, little sixth grader Corinne Adams, 11, of Columbiana hugging the heels of the final winner right up to the end.

The hour-long contest was finally won by 12-year-old John Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wood of Harrisville and a seventh grade student in Harrisville School. This was his third attempt to make the grade.

Thirty-one boys and girls, each a local champion, competed in the spell-down. Of the five boys in the contest, three, from East Liverpool, Amsterdam and Steubenville, went down on the first round of words.

Norma Jean Sabljak, an alternate replacing Wilma Flaherty of Wellsburg, W. Va., who had contracted the measles, also stumbled on the first word.

Marcia Henning, 13-year-old eighth grader at Salem Junior High School and the city's public school champ, misspelled the word "opulence" after 45 minutes of

12 U. N. Planes Downed In Week

SEOUL (AP)—Communist ground fire knocked down eight Allied warplanes during the week ended Friday, the Far East Air Forces said today.

That number matched the toll of Red MIG-15 jets shot down in air combat by U. S. F-86 Sabre jets during the same period. One Sabre jet was lost in the air fighting.

In its weekly summary the Air Force said three other Allied planes failed to return for unknown causes. One downed plane was Australian, the others American.

Court Decision Is Awaited On Truman Seizure

Sen. Taft-Ike Duel Seen In GOP Convention

Candidates Close In Delegates; 5 States Name Delegates Today

(By The Associated Press)
The presidential race was blossoming today with signs—some in bold letters—pointing to a Taft-Eisenhower duel for the Republican nomination.

Here are the most noticeable:

1. Republicans in five states—Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia and Utah—elect a total of 59 nominating convention delegates at meetings today. In each state the battle was between forces of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Ohio's Sen. Robert A. Taft.

2. Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania, who will head his state's 70-vote GOP delegation, said in Harrisburg, "It looks like a two-horse race" between Eisenhower and Taft.

3. Much the same thought was expressed by Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and a candidate for the GOP nomination. In Cleveland, he told newsmen: "I recognize that Sen. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower are the two front runners."

4. Taft and Eisenhower were pulling away from the field in tabulations of delegate strength. With 603 votes needed for nomination—a majority of the 1,205 total—Taft headquarters claimed, as of Thursday night, 300 for the Ohioan as against 213 for Eisenhower. The Associated Press tabulation—based on delegates pledged, instructed, favorable or willing to state a first ballot choice and on concessions—showed, as of Friday night: Taft 233, Eisenhower 216.

Democrats, meanwhile, were far from idle.

In Hutchinson, Kansas Democrats assembled to complete their 16-vote delegation and to hear nominee-candidate Robert Kerr, senator from Oklahoma.

Of the three other announced Democratic hopefuls, two were busy campaigning—Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver in Ohio and Georgia Sen. Richard Russell in Florida.

The third, Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman, was the target of Rep. James Richards, South Carolina Democrat and House foreign affairs chairman. Richards said in Washington yesterday that Harriman might involve the foreign aid program in politics if he insists on staying in the presidential race.

David Ingalls, Taft's campaign manager, called Stassen "only a stalking horse and hatchet man" for Eisenhower. In a statement, Ingalls contended Stassen entered the race merely to block Taft.

Stassen said any delegates he wins in the Ohio primary may back Eisenhower.

The Taft-Eisenhower battle continued apace in today's state conventions.

Judge Pine Considers Legality Of Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government and the steel industry sweated out in tense expectancy today a period of waiting for an historic court decision on the legality of President Truman's seizure of the nation's steel mills.

After listening to arguments by lawyers of both sides in a crowded courtroom yesterday, Federal District Judge David A. Pine said he would "take the case under submission and give it my attention to the exclusion of all other court business."

The 60-year-old jurist did not say when he might render his decision but legal experts said it may not be announced until Monday or later.

The soft-spoken judge had plenty of reading material for the week-end—hundreds of pages of legal briefs filed by the government and six steel companies and the transcript of almost two full days of testimony, filled with legal footnotes.

Meanwhile, the government authorized a $3 a ton average price rise for steel, effective May 1. But it won't take effect until individual steel companies apply for it or the government decrees it in force.

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said $3 was all the steel companies were entitled to under present policy. The industry has estimated its costs would be boosted $12 a ton if government-recommended wage boosts were put into effect.

The six companies engaged in the district court action have asked that Secretary of Commerce Sawyer be forbidden to raise the wages of 650,000 CIO Steel Workers. Truman turned operation of the mills over to Sawyer after he seized them April 8.

Five of the companies also are asking Pine to declare the seizure order itself illegal, with Sawyer also the defendant in this suit. The six companies involved in the court action produce 70 per cent of the nation's steel.

Judge Pine took the case under consideration after the government contended the courts lack authority to nullify the President's seizure action.

Holmes Baldridge, the chief government lawyer, said: "It is our position that the President is accountable only to the country, and the decisions of the President are conclusive." In other words, in an emergency the President has power under the Constitution to do anything he believes is in the best interests of the country.

This drew replies from industry attorneys ranging from "shocking" to "contrary to all accepted American democratic principles of government."

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) told a reporter Baldridge's statement is the "most absurd, most un-American and most dangerous statement ever made by an intelligent person, if he be one."

Truman said he seized the steel mills to prevent a strike. The strike threat was raised after the union agreed to accept but the in-

Manville's 8th Wife Dies In Auto Mishap

GREENBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Georgiana Campbell Manville, 33, estranged eighth wife of playboy Tommy Manville, was killed in an automobile accident here today.

A car she was driving collided with another car at an intersection in this town, near White Plains, in Westchester County.

Detective Captain Eugene Brett of the Greenburgh police said she was thrown from the car and it came to rest on top of her.

The beautiful, English-born redhead, noted for her creamy white complexion, was alone in the car.

She was travelling east on Ardsley Road. The other car was driving south on Central Avenue. Police said it was operated by William Rogers, 48, of 3 Dusenbury Place, White Plains. He was unhurt.

The automobiles crashed at 6:50 a. m. Police said Mrs. Manville apparently had risen early and left her residence here a short time before.

The accident victim and Manville met when she interviewed him as a reporter for "The Hobo News."

They married Dec. 12, 1945. The marriage, like all in which Manville was involved, was marked by frequent squabbles.

Manville announced on Feb. 16, 1951, that he and his wife had signed legal separation papers under an agreement giving her $1,000 a month "to stay away from me."

Despite the separation, she said she never would give him a divorce and she died true to her vow.

Have Thine Own Way, Lord

The hymn that was inspired by a prayer

The station was crowded. It was just before Christmas and it seemed that everybody in New York was on the go. Nobody noticed the little lady as she made her way to the ticket window. Nobody noticed her as she sat quietly and watched the milling throng while she waited for her train. That's the way she wanted it. She didn't like to be noticed. But traveling was nothing new to her. As a Bible teacher she had been all over the United States, had spent several years in England and, when she was nearly 60, made a trip to Africa. So there she was, past three score and ten, waiting for another train. This time for Philadelphia where she was scheduled to speak.

Adelaide Pollard was a remarkable little woman. She devoted her life to making the world a better place, but she didn't want recognition for her efforts. Nobody knows how many hymns she wrote because she rarely signed them and when she did she just put the initials "A. A. B." That's why if you look up "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," in your hymnal, chances are you will see only the initials under the title.

Miss Pollard had just turned 40 at the turn of the century when she got the inspiration for "Have Thine Own Way." She was at a prayer service when a woman used a phrase that struck her. In her prayer the woman omitted the usual beseeching for blessings but prayed that the Lord "just have your own way with our lives." The sincerity of the prayer so impressed Miss Pollard that by the time she got home she had the hymn shaped in her mind and finished it that very night.

Perhaps God figured Adelaide Pollard had filled enough engagements. The caller announced the train for Philadelphia that day in December, 1934, but the quiet little lady of 72 didn't get on it. The throngs milled through the gate, but the author of "Have Thine Own Way, Lord" had been called to take another train. She was buried at Fort Madison in her native state of Iowa and they had a quiet ceremony. That's the way she would have wanted it. . . .

Have Thine own way, Lord!
Have Thine Own Way!
Thou art the Potter,
I am the clay.
Mould me and make me
After Thy will,
While I am waiting,
Yielded and still.

Have Thine own way, Lord!
Have Thine own way!
Search me and try me,
Master today.
Whiter than snow, Lord,
Wash me just now,
As in Thy presence
Humbly I bow.

Have Thine own way, Lord!
Have Thine own way!
Wounded and weary,
Help me, I pray!
Power—all power—
Surely is Thine.
Touch me and heal me,
Saviour divine.

Have Thine own way, Lord!
Have Thine own way!
Hold on my being
Absolute away!
Fill with Thy Spirit
Till all shall see
Christ only, always,
Living in me!

How To Find Power Through Faith

In that great treasury of wisdom, the book of Proverbs in the Bible you will find a line which reads, "If ye have faith nothing shall be impossible unto you." This points to an enormous power of achievement, the potential for which lies within each of us. As William James, first eminent American psychologist said, the greatest discovery of the 19th century was the power of the subconscious mind touched by faith.

I know a man who is a lawyer and a banker in a small mid-western town. He first saw this town when he went to a nearby law school and had to find a job to help him through school. He looked the place over and decided the best opportunity for him was in the bank. So he walked into the bank and found the president, a stern-looking country banker, sitting at his desk near the entrance. "I'd like a job," my friend said. "I'd like to work in a bank."

"Well," the surprised banker replied, "what if I told you we didn't want anyone?" "I'd be sorry to hear it," the man told him, "and I would think you're making a great mistake, for I can help you." "You're pretty confident of yourself, aren't you, son?" asked the banker.

"ALL I KNOW is that I like this town. I want a job in this bank. I want to earn my way through law school." "But we haven't the money to pay anyone," said the banker. "How much would you pay if you did?"

"Well, if we wanted anyone and if we had the money, we might pay thirty dollars a month."

"All right," my friend said, "I'll start Monday morning."

"Wait a minute," shouted the banker, "I didn't offer you a job."

"Yes, you did. You said you'd pay thirty dollars if you had the money and I know you have it."

The banker was so amused that he gave my friend a job. And the boy worked hard, learning all he could about banking. He progressed from office boy to teller to cashier. He was a vice president before he finished law school. Then he decided he wanted to practice law, but he remained a member of the bank's board of directors. In 1932, when all the banks were crashing, the president of the bank decided to close down.

"No," my friend said, "you can stay solvent."

"If you feel that way," he was told, "you take over and become president."

He took over, reassured the depositors and prevented a run, collected what he could from those who were in debt to the bank, borrowed enough more from a city bank to tide them over. The bank, unlike many others, never did close. It met every obligation.

I ONCE ASKED my friend "How did you get through that crisis?" He chuckled. "It was prayer and faith—faith in people, in myself, in the country, and in God. One of the happiest moments of my life was after they asked me to take over and I realized that I could meet that challenge."

Here is a living example of that Bible text, "If ye have faith nothing shall be impossible unto you." And a man is indeed happy when he realizes his own power through faith in God.

This is one of the most thrilling experiences you can have in this life. Whatever your job or whatever task you have to do, you can find power to achieve it through faith.

Activate your faith today. Go to church, read the Bible, take time out for prayer. Let your faith be a living, growing thing—and you will find power through your faith.

SOMETHING'S Missing

Tom has a ballbat and Joe has a mitt. They are two sturdy, normal, active boys, eager for a good time. But something is missing.

There is no ball. They can swing the bat in thin air all day long, and wave and pound the mitt. Yet all their motions are completely senseless if they have nothing to strike at or to catch.

You are a fortunate normal American, eager for a good time and happy life. But perhaps there is something missing in your life too.

Do you go through the motions of earning a living, clothing and feeding your family, finding entertainment, yet everything seems rather empty and senseless?

Perhaps then God is missing. Seek Him and your life will take on new meaning with vital purpose. "Seek and you shall find—"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mr. Big Of The U. S. A.

Unlikely as it is that anyone still thinks Harry Truman is the kind of a fellow whose mistakes are purely accidental, the argument being used in behalf of steel seizure by lawyers of the Department of Justice confirms suspicion that dreams of dictatorship are growing in Washington.

More than that it suggests there may have been a better reason for swapping attorney generals than the recent ruckus over Newbold Morris. It would take an attorney general with a strong conscience to let any government lawyer argue that Mr. Truman is beyond the reach of the Constitution.

To make certain that the implication would not be missed, Federal Judge David A. Pine revealed that the Department of Justice actually contending that only the courts and Congress were limited by the Constitution. The chief executive—Mr. Truman in this instance—could do anything he pleased and could not be reached by either the courts or Congress.

Even if Congress passed a law, Mr. Truman could disregard it. He and he alone could make the decisions if he felt like it—and lately he has been feeling like it.

In brief, political affairs in the United States now have reached a state in which the man in the White House, backed by his own appointees, declares that he is Mr. Big.

There have been many times since Mr. Truman was designated to serve out the term of the dying Franklin D. Roosevelt when even his sympathizers wondered if he knew what he was doing. There is no place for doubt now.

He has to know what he is doing when he lets his attorney general try to set up an executive dictatorship. The question now is whether the people of the United States know what Mr. Truman is doing. He has just told them, in effect, that he is his own boss; that he cannot be touched by the Constitution—that he and he alone will decide what is good for them.

He isn't fooling.

Harry Truman has unanimously elected himself Mr. Big of the U.S.A.

Is that all there is to it, or does the country now unstuff the one-man ballot box?

Uncle Sam's Nightmare

No imagination is needed to believe that the legal test of the President's steel-seizure order will be a turning point.

But there is a nightmare about legal tests which makes Uncle Sam (the original article, not the facsimile) sweat and shiver.

In the nightmare, he is pushed over a cliff into a cauldron of boiling water, hauled out by the ears, hung up to dry on a 100-foot tower in sub-zero weather, then dropped on a bed of spikes. When he struggles to roll off the spikes, he is attacked by ravenous wolves waving writs of seizure and eaten alive.

But the dream does not end there.

After he is inside the wolves, a lawyer wriggles down the wolves' throats and reads from a paper which says the Supreme Court of the United States has just ruled he shouldn't have been hauled out of the boiling water by the ears. That was unconstitutional.

As to the other indignities, the Supreme Court has nothing to say. They were outside its jurisdiction, which lies wholly in the province of ears. Long ears, that is. Like the ones pinned on the steel industry's lawyers by the judge who rebuffed them, explaining there was nothing he could do about the steel seizure because they couldn't show damage. Their client had just been shoved over the cliff at that point and hadn't hit the water yet.

Harold Stassen

When the presidential preliminaries began to get attention in the press and on the radio a few months ago, there was a question about the potentialities of Harold E. Stassen.

Here was a man who had exerted strong influence over many younger Republicans and over many women in the Republican party. Like Gen. Eisenhower, he had added to his laurels the presidency of a large eastern university. How strong would he be in 1952?

His intention to be as strong as he could be even was in doubt. Typical of his tactics was a speech last January urging the government to let up on corporation taxes so employers could share profits with their employees. Mr. Stassen was not missing any chances to work both sides of the street.

So here it is, getting along toward summer. The presidential preliminaries are old stuff now. In the New Jersey primary, the Stassen vote was 3.6 per cent of the total. He barely carried Minnesota, where his was the only name on the ballot, despite his explanation that he really is not running for himself any more but for Gen. Eisenhower. Elsewhere, he has been out of sight in the running.

There is no question now about the potentialities of Harold E. Stassen. The University of Pennsylvania will not have to look for a new president after all.

Sound Advice

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Truman Didn't Get It In Steel Seizure

It's just about a mile between the White House and Capitol Hill where Congress meets—and it doesn't take but a few minutes for the President to send a message recommending what legislation he wants.

Yet Mr. Truman says he waited 99 days for the steelworkers union to hold up their strike call and hence, when they did decide to use the Taft-Hartley Act, which provides an 80-day wait. He declares also that there was such a big emergency he had to act even without a law. To him it was just like sending an "ultimatum" to Stalin. It was a great big emergency and there wasn't anything else to do, he claims, in order to keep steel production going.

MR. TRUMAN is right. There was an emergency. But it was of his own making. It was due to his failure to apply the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. It is true this law doesn't provide a solution for what may happen at the end of 80 days but any time within that period Mr. Truman could have traveled the mile between Capitol Hill and the White House or sent up a messenger with a request that Congress give him authority to meet such a prospective emergency.

Mr. Truman's defense of his seizure of the steel plants, as given to his press conference, makes a bad situation even worse. Conceding that he had no authority under any law and that he was acting under "inherent powers" of the Constitution, Mr. Truman pointed to international emergencies and to situations in which other Presidents like Jefferson and Tyler and Polk had acted without law to annex the Louisiana Territory, Texas and Alaska. Those were all purchases or annexations of land. There was no seizure of the private property of any American citizen.

If Mr. Truman has been looking for instances in which Presidents have done unconstitutional acts and have gotten away with it, there are plenty in the history books. Public acquiescence sometimes discourages any challenge of a law or of an executive action that is popular, but this does not mean the acts are thereby legalized.

IT IS REGRETTABLE that Mr. Truman should seek to justify his own course by pointing to some unconstitutional acts of his predecessors. For it accentuates the very issue that has been raised in the past two weeks—that another

President of the United States some day may seize private property without a law and blandly announce: "Truman did it—so it's all right."

Much more candid was the observation of government attorneys in their argument before Judge Pine the same day on the subject of an injunction sought by the steel companies to restrain the secretary of commerce from paying out a wage increase to which the owners of the properties have not agreed. The government attorneys conceded that the seizure did not have any sanction of law and was simply an action taken in an emergency to prevent the stoppage of steel production.

Mr. Truman's contention is that he was faced with an emergency and then acted. Nobody would be criticizing him today if he had acted in a suddenly developed crisis, especially if he had gone immediately thereafter to Congress to seek ratification of his action.

But Mr. Truman never told Congress about the steel situation till after he seized the properties and even then he didn't ask for a law to justify that seizure or to take care of future seizures.

THE PRESIDENT'S action has begun to arouse the nation to the point where demands for impeachment are being made in an increasing number of letters every day to members of the House of Representatives. Mr. Truman sought to minimize the gravity of his answer to the American Society of Newspaper Editors last week when he answered a question as to whether under similar circumstances he would seize the newspapers and radio stations.

Now Mr. Truman declares he never had any such idea. But why is that it took almost a week to get a denial from the President as to the implications of his remarks? The answer is that Mr. Truman now is hearing from the country and is retracing his steps.

If Mr. Truman had really thought about it, he might have defended his first answer to the editors a bit by pointing out that, if atom bombs destroyed many of our cities, the government would undoubtedly take over radio stations in such an emergency.

But the obvious attempt of Mr. Truman to argue that a national emergency arose just because he went from the frying pan into the fire on the steel dispute means that Mr. Truman certainly is badly in need of sound advice from friends. They might tell him that the best government policy is that which is fair to all citizens and not just to members of the CIO.

Questions For The Doctor

Questions for the doctor today cover a variety of ills. Included are:

Q—Would a blood test show that a person has cancer? — Reader.
A—Unfortunately, there is, as yet no blood test which reveals the presence of cancer. It would be extremely desirable if such a test could be developed, and there has actually been a good deal of work to try to do so, but so far without complete success.

Q—I would like to buy a pair of love birds. Could I get parrot fever from them?—Billy N.

A—Several years ago a number of cases of parrot fever of psittacosis were acquired from love birds. The government got busy and I have seen no reports of such trouble for some time.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

My barber says the atomic explosion looked fine on his screen but in the days that have passed there still is nothing from Korea to indicate that the commies will surrender to a television program.

He says maybe if the Defense Department would fly the films over our infantry could advance behind the kinescope . . . lacking anything in the nature of the real thing.

At the moment, everyone agrees that we have a very powerful weapon for future wars . . . something we hope to have a weapon to win the one we're in.

Correction: That should read "police action." At times we forget that Korea is a "United Nations police action" . . . at times the United Nations forgets it.

In fact, if there was to be a title dispute over who owns this police action, I think we could win it hands up.

But let us not be discouraged . . . shucks the truce committees are just rounding out the first year of no progress.

Questions and Answers

Q—How many Pullman cars would be needed to carry the number of passengers who can be accommodated on the "Queen Mary"?

A—Sixty-five Pullman cars would be needed to carry the ship's 2075 passengers. The crew alone would occupy 15 Pullman cars.

Q—Can lack of thyroid secretion effect one's balance? — Reader.
A—I don't believe so.

Q—My baby is 19 months old, but ever since she was three weeks old she has pulled out her hair, and now she eats it as well. I haven't asked our family doctor yet, but I have asked a hair stylist and she said if I don't get her to stop this habit she will ruin her hair cells. — Mrs. A.

A—This is an extraordinary habit for this young child. Perhaps it is more likely to hurt her stomach than her scalp in the long run. It is a condition in which you should get your family doctor to help you as soon as possible.

Q—If I take two vitamin A capsules a day, will this make my cataracts disappear? — C. A. D.

A—Unfortunately, it will not. There is as yet no satisfactory method other than surgery which will make cataracts disappear.

Fascism At Work

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Fascism is a principle of the control of society by the direct intervention of government in the affairs of men. It narrows the limits of human freedom by making decisions which in a free society are regarded as the province of the individual, not of the state.

Fascism, in its numerous variations, was a direct response to the confusions of the aftermath of war. World War I did not open the world, as Woodrow Wilson had expected, to an increased acknowledgment of human freedoms, rather it produced revolution, the overturning of long-established governments, and finally the seizure of power by oligarchies in the form of dictatorial political parties.

Fascism in Italy elevating Mussolini, Nazism in Germany elevating Hitler, Bolshevism in Russia ultimately elevating Stalin after a struggle for power within the oligarchy, the rise of the Communist-Kuomintang power in China out of which Chiang Kai-shek emerged—all these and many more such uprisings were responses to disorder, to a need for tightening the reins of governmental power at the cost of human freedom. They were efforts to restore order but on the basis of the enslavement of the population to the authority of those who had managed to control the state.

THE FIRST ATTEMPT at dealing with American problems in this manner was the presentation to Herbert Hoover of a memorandum on a way to handle the American depression by leaders of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Concerned in this were Henry I. Harriman, Myron C. Taylor, Owen D. Young, and Gerard Swope, as I recall it. Mr. Hoover turned this memorandum down as Fascistic, as an American adaptation of Fascism. Hoover's office memorandum, written at the time, said: "... In fact, if such a thing were ever done, it means the decay of American industry from the day this scheme is born, because one cannot stabilize prices without protecting obsolete plants and inferior managements. It is the most gigantic proposal of monopoly ever made in history."

Subsequently, this plan became the NRA, symbolized by the Blue Eagle. The NRA sought to organize management into trade associations, the workers into unions, with the government as the final voice.

This institution was thrown out by the Supreme Court as a violation of the Constitution. The Wagner Act was substituted, the National Labor Relations Board was created, and the La Follette Committee was used to frighten off opposition.

OUT OF THESE beginnings, a system developed which made the Government the third and determining factor in all industrial relations. Bureaus were set up, staff was employed on a permanent career basis to deal with wages, hours, working conditions, union affiliations, etc. Fear of the consequences of the depression and the controls necessary during war strengthened the power of government and expanded its function.

Collective bargaining, the freest characteristic of American labor relations, was subordinated to government decisions. The strike was subordinated to government mediation, which is legally different from arbitration, but which in application, comes to much the same thing with a government official as the third party. The vast governmental public relations service developed a favorable atmosphere.

AMONG LABOR leaders, the only one who fully recognized the menace of this development has been John L. Lewis, who has steadily opposed the destruction of the freedom of the American labor movement by a Fascistically minded government. Lewis has, at times, taken steps which produced a violently antagonistic response among the people. Many have felt that Lewis was overbearing and implacable. But this must be said for him: he has never submitted to Fascistic controls; he risked his union and his own leadership, but he did not risk the loss of the right of direct collective bargaining.

The recent action of President Truman is seizing the steel industry is part of this Fascistic pattern. It is in line with the doctrine that the Government, not the people, is paramount. He may give the workers a wage increase. If his doctrine of "inherent powers" is upheld, he could on the same grounds lower wages, increase hours, impose a speed-up, institute Stakhanovism, or do anything he pleased. There can be no collective bargaining with a government, and a strike could be declared by edict to be a revolution.

A precedent, once established, can and often has been used for distant purposes.

Nolle Prosequi

By TRUMAN TWILL

Some of my best friends are lawyers. If I were one of them, I think the following statement by John A. Stephens, vice president of U. S. Steel Corp., would give me the shivers.

Testifying before a Senate committee on the steel-seizure ruckus, Mr. Stephens, whose specialty is industrial relations, said:

"I am not a lawyer. But as an ordinary citizen I do have a view about seizure; I don't consider it a proper remedy for a labor dispute."

Rarely does a day pass any more in which at least one person does not say something like this in connection with an issue on which he has reached a decision—that he is "not a lawyer but . . ."

The implication is that many questions in public controversy look like one thing to ordinary citizen but look like something else to lawyers.

In view of the fact that many of the ordinary citizens who make this crack can and do hire lawyers to make things look the way they want them to look, the implication is as broad as a meat ax that the legal profession is able to look at things in ways peculiar to its practitioners.

When it is further recalled that some of these ways are at variance with the ways the ordinary run of people look at them and that lawyers can be found who will look at things in diametrically opposite ways, lawyers should begin to give some thought to their place in a government of law.

If the law can be twisted in any given instance to say what lawyers want it to say, what then becomes of the claim that the United States is a government of law, not of men?

Is it not then on the verge of becoming a government of lawyers, instead of men, which is the very thing the American people have been trying to avoid?

Theoretically, all legal controversies in this country can be settled by appeals to ever-higher courts until finally the Supreme Court declares what the law really is.

But in practice there is not the necessary time to do this in all cases and in many cases where it can be done it cannot be done quickly enough to avert irreparable damage to the parties concerned. Moreover, the Supreme Court, itself, is an assemblage of lawyers who got there by being able to see things in a way which qualified them for favorable attention by the politicians who appointed them and confirmed the appointments.

As I say, if I were a lawyer, I'd fret under the implication of that crack by John A. Stephens (and many others) that lawyers have special ways of looking at questions involved in the public issues of the day and that their special ways may take precedence over an ordinary citizen's concepts of justice and equity.

Help Wanted?

All kinds of suggestions are cropping up on jobs for Private Citizen Harry S. Truman to take after he gets out of the White House.

One is that he be made chairman of the Democratic National Committee, as the master politician of them all and as the man who could best throw harpoons into the Republicans if they win the election. Still another suggestion is that Truman be assigned to the United Nations as one of the American representatives.

War

By HAL BOYLE

It Changes Whomever It Touches

NEW YORK

War is like matrimony. Whomever it touches it changes.

Many who go through a war emerge from it with nothing but a feeling of resentment for the time taken out of their lives or the way it has frustrated their personal plans.

War teaches others how to appreciate the deeper joys of living. That is an odd by-product of the business of killing.

The most immoral thing about war is its waste. And I think that in time this is what you get to hate most about it—the waste of life, the waste of food, the waste of money and metal. Everything about war is wasteful by necessity, and this fact weighs upon a man more and more. It is a violation against natural economy, the inherent urge in everybody to conserve.

In war you see so many things tossed away needlessly that it is hard ever afterward for you to throw anything away yourself. You become not so much a miser as a string-saver.

MOST AMERICANS take their food, clothing and shelter pretty much for granted. War teaches you how basic these things really are, and to be properly grateful for them. When you have shivered in a cold foxhole a few nights, the chance to sleep in a warm bed seems a blessing almost too wonderful to stand.

But while war gives you a real understanding of primary essentials it also removes a lot of snobbish delusions you may have had about what you ought to eat and where you ought to live. It teaches you that anything tastes good when you are really hungry, and that any place out of the wind's way is good enough when you are really wornout, and sleepy.

No man who has known the real privations of combat ever again feels in his heart that he has to own a 12-room house to be happy.

WAR KINDLES a new appreciation in you for the simple pleasures in life you always took for granted before. You learn what things really hold meaning to you, what are unimportant—which goals you really cling to, which are no longer worth idly dreaming of. A sunset is a vast thing to you when you know it may be the last one you'll ever see.

Patience is a virtue war teaches to many. In wartime you have to spend so much time interminably waiting . . . waiting . . . that if you cannot learn to curb your impatience you are likely to fret yourself into a quick insanity.

But perhaps the greatest gift of war is the instilling of an understanding of loyalty. The battlefield is the great crucible of friendship, and nowhere else is it tested more firmly. Men who have faced danger and shared fear and fought it down together know an unbreakable comradeship, a bright bond that will never fade.

These are a few of the things war teaches. All of them could be learned as well in peace. And perhaps in wiser days mankind will come to learn them in peace.

Why Talks in the Steel Wage Dispute are Stalled

A Report to the American Public

Millions of Americans are asking why negotiations in the steel labor dispute have stalled.

The chief reason is that the union refuses to budge an inch from its demand for the full package of Wage Stabilization Board recommendations.

Under these recommendations the union wants the highest increase in wages and in fringe benefits in the industry's history. And in addition it wants the power to force every man who works in the mills to join the union.

On its part the industry, faced with demands which would lift its costs more than $1 billion annually, wants the Government to grant fair and reasonable price relief to compensate for increased costs. And it opposes the compulsory union shop.

How Prices Stand

It is important to set the record straight on one point. The steel companies have never asked nor "insisted" on a price increase of $12. a ton. They have asked only for fair and equitable treatment on prices, if labor costs advanced.

The figure of $12. a ton would be the ULTIMATE COST to the companies if the inflationary increases recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board become effective. How is that figure reached?

The direct employment costs to the companies of the W. S. B. recommendations would be 30 cents an hour per employee or $6. a ton. There have been five earlier rounds of wage increases and other costly benefits since V. J. Day. In each of them the cost of goods and services the steel companies must buy went up by nearly the same amount as the increase. This time that would add another $6. in costs a ton or $12. in all.

The revenue of the steel industry is simply not adequate to permit it to "absorb" a further cost increase of $6. a ton or more without a compensating price increase.

The companies had hoped to help check inflation by holding the line on both prices and wages. However, the W. S. B. recommendations shattered that hope.

The Price Administrator has said an increase of only about $3. a ton will be allowed. The companies were entitled to this increase under the Capehart Amendment to cover increased costs between the outbreak of fighting in Korea and July 26, 1951, prior to any demands for wage increases. In the interest of stabilization no request for this increase was ever made by the industry.

Some in Washington cite the income of steel companies BEFORE TAXES as alleged proof that they can absorb more than $1 billion in added costs. But the effect of that absorption would be to reduce their taxes by two thirds of a billion.

The loss in taxes would have to be made up by action of Congress to increase taxes. If not that, then by Government borrowing, or by the printing of new money. This would be inflation pure and simple.

That is why the tax payers and consumers of America will bear a large share of the cost of the W. S. B. inflationary recommendations.

The Union Shop

Another big stumbling block to agreement between the companies and the union is the compulsory union shop endorsed by the W. S. B. Under the union shop no man, not a member of the union, could work in the mills.

The companies believe it wrong to interfere in any respect with an individual's decision as to whether he will or will not join a union.

The Broader Issues

The controversy has created grave economic and constitutional issues more important by far than the immediate dispute in steel. These will not be settled quickly or easily, but settled they must be because—

If the Government can arbitrarily seize the steel mills, the property of nearly one million citizens, stockholders of the steel companies—

If it can impose an inflationary wage increase—

If it can confiscate private income by setting prices in ruthless disregard of the needs of the industry to meet huge cost increases—

If it can force compulsory unionism on workers—

Then our American heritage of human liberty, the rights of individuals, the right to own property, the freedom to work—even freedom of the press—are gravely imperiled.

This Is Your Fight

This fight does not concern the steel companies alone. It is your fight as well. If you are opposed to the illegal seizure of property by Government for any purpose whatever, your only recourse is in the Congress of the United States.

It is your privilege as an American citizen to express your views to your Congressman and Senators on these subjects.

Write for copies of the booklet "Facts in the Steel Controversy."

Mt. Nebo Grangers
Hear Patrolmen

When Mt. Nebo Grange met Wednesday two State Highway Patrolmen gave an interesting talk on highway safety. They stated that there isn't such a thing as an accident; that it is always someone's mistake that causes each highway mishap.

The evenings of April 30 and May 1 were set to complete work on the grange kitchen. A committee was named to canvass grange members to secure funds to purchase an electric stove for the kitchen. Geneva Zimmerman is chairman with Mrs. Glen Bartholow and Mrs. Raymond Bartholow.

The officers' chairs were filled by as many youth as were present with Roberta Griffith acting as lecturer, Eddie Reed as assistant steward and Helen Welker as lady assistant steward.

Instrumental music was provided by Harold, Mervin and Glen Bartholow. A vocal trio of Helen, Dorothy and Mary Lou Welker sang "Let's Go To Church Next Sunday Morning." A piano solo "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" was played by Kathryn Bailey.

The juvenile grange had the following program: The story "A Little Piece of Pipe" was read by Thomas Rudebeck. Oliver Bailey recited the poem "The Dandelion Tells the Time." Hazel Bartholow read the poem "The Little Singer." The roll call was answered by naming a favorite spring flower. Nancy Birk had riddles after which games were enjoyed.

The next meeting is May 14.

Shower Party Given
For Virginia Martin

Miss Virginia Martin, bride-elect of John Sox Jr., was honored by 18 friends Wednesday evening at a miscellaneous shower.

Co-hostesses for the event which was held at the Meissner home on the Damascus Rd., were Miss Alice Meissner and Miss Margaret Kupa.

Television was enjoyed during the informal evening. Flowers and miniature basket favors of candy highlighted the refreshment table.

In addition to lovely shower gifts, Miss Martin received an iron as a wedding present from her associate workers at the Kresge store.

The wedding ceremony will be performed at 5:30 p.m. Saturday in the First Christian Church.

Cleveland Dumps White Sox, 5-4, With Ninth Inning Rally

Simpson Stars As Tribe Wins

Outfielder Ties Game, Scores Winning Tally

CLEVELAND (AP)—Harry Simpson drove in two runs that tied the game and then scored the winning run himself on Luke Easter's fly in the ninth inning as the Cleveland Indians beat Chicago, 5-4, yesterday before 4,677 shivering spectators.

The Indians, snapping a two-game losing streak, were trailing 4-2, entering the last of the ninth. Ray Boone singled, Jim Hegan walked, Pitcher Early Wynn sacrificed and then Simpson tied the score with a two-run double, his third hit of the game.

BOB AVILA DREW an intentional pass, pinch hitter Johnny Berardino walked and then Easter hit a short fly to Jim Busby in center field. Simpson easily beat Busby's throw to the plate.

It was a 2-2 mound duel between Wynn and Sox Pitcher Billy Pierce going into the ninth inning. These same pitchers were opponents in the season opener in Chicago 10 days ago and Wynn walked off with a 3-2 decision.

With two out in the Sox half of the ninth, Ed Stewart lined a single to center and Minnie Minoso tripled to left-center, bringing Stewart around. Minoso himself scored on Boone's wild relay to the plate.

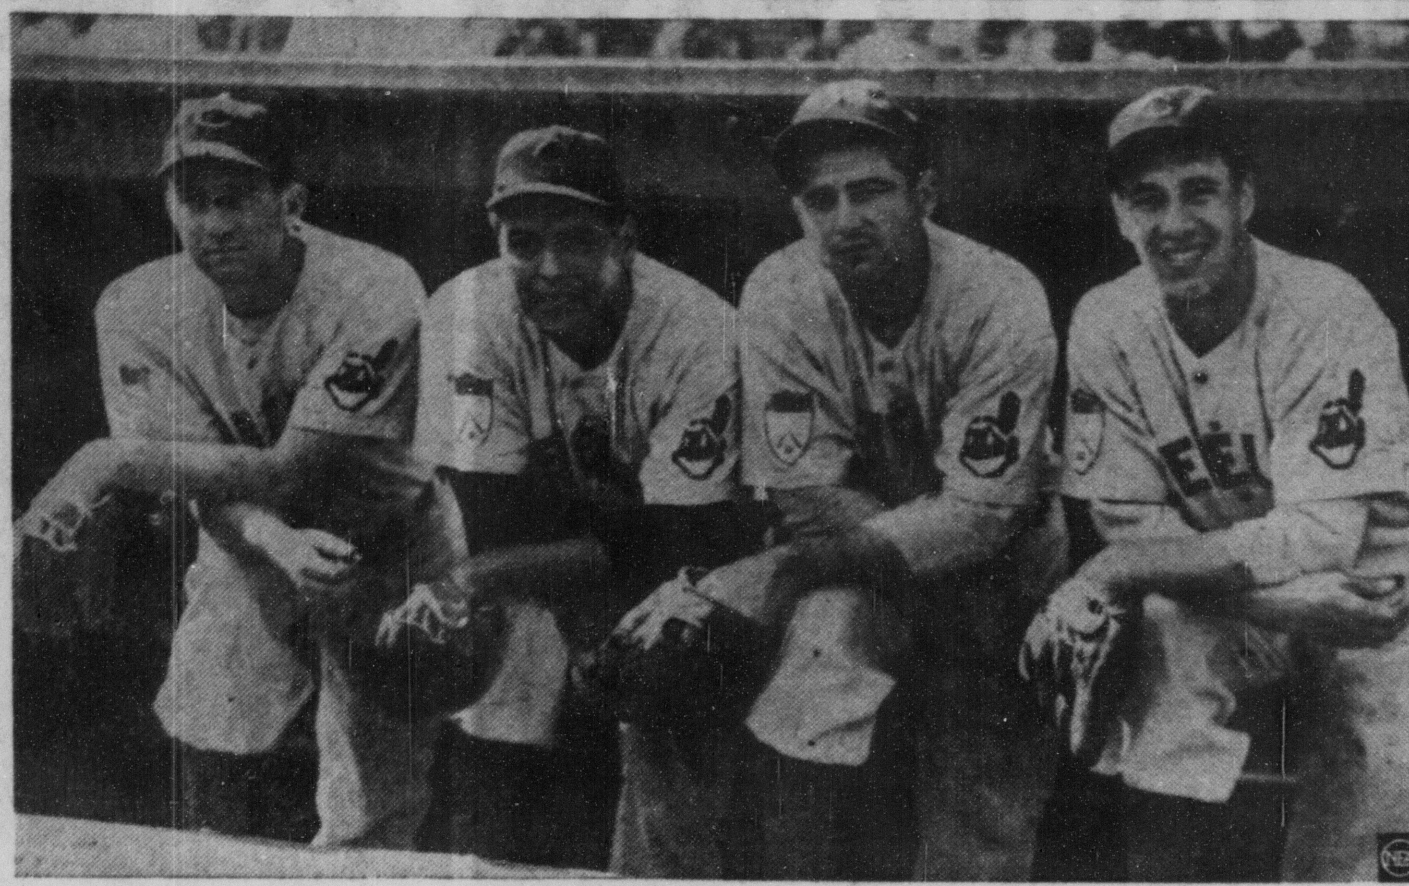

THE INDIANS SCORED against Pierce in the first inning on four singles. Simpson and Avila opened with singles and Simpson was picked off second. Avila moved to second on a single by Pete Reiser and scored on a hit by Al Rosen.

Boone homered in the second inning for his second of the season, but Pierce blanked the Indians on one hit through the next six frames. They had seven hits off him, going into the ninth.

The White Sox got their first run in the third on a single by Hector Rodriguez, a sacrifice by Pierce and a single by Nellie Fox. They added another in the fifth, tying the score, on a two-bagger by Chico Carrasquel and a single by Rodriguez.

It was the third victory of the season for the Indians' righthander, who was touched for nine hits, and it was the second defeat for Pierce. He was replaced by Luis Aloma after Simpson doubled in the ninth. Aloma pitched to one batter and then gave way to Bill Kennedy, who walked Berardino and pitched to Easter.

The first nomination for the 1952 Kentucky Derby was Primate, owned by E. B. Benjamin's Star-mount Stable.

THE BIG FOUR—Cleveland's pitching has been the most efficient in the major leagues for four years, and this quartet is out to make it five. They are, left to right, Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia, Early Wynn and Bob Feller.

Tenth Inning Home Run For Son, Joe Rates As Clipper's Fourth Top Thrill

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth of six series of DiMaggio's top thrills of his career in 13 seasons with the New York Yankees.)

By FRANK ECK
NEW YORK — Joe DiMaggio counts among his top baseball thrills the home run he hit in Shibe Park in the 1950 World Series against the Philadelphia Phillies. It was his first hit in the Series. He had failed six previous times to put the ball out of the infield.

THE EVENTS leading up to that home run were important, or rather they played an important part in the wallop. In the sixth Del Ennis drove a ball 400 feet against the center field light pole. DiMaggio barely managed to get under it. He finished making the catch with one foot on the ground and the other against the wall.

Then in the bottom of the ninth DiMaggio made one of the best running stops of his career. It was a hard hit extra base smash by Granny Hamner.

"IT WAS a two-base hit," recalls DiMaggio. "Had I missed the stop Hamner would have gotten a triple and possibly a home run on a carom off the wall. Had Hamner scored, the Phillies would have beaten the Yankees, 2-1, in nine innings."

The stop gave DiMaggio a turn at bat in the top of the tenth inning and on the fourth pitch he hit his homer against Robin Roberts, just about the best young right handed pitcher in the game.

"I had hoped to hit one all day," said DiMaggio. "I knew little Joe, my son, then eight, and some of his schoolmates in California were listening to the game on the radio. I was thinking of this situation with Joe Junior and said to myself 'I must hit this one.' It was a big thrill for me."

TOMORROW: Robbery against Hank Greenberg.

FOR JOE DIMAGGIO, this home run he is shown hitting against the Phillies in the 1950 World Series in Shibe Park, was one of his most dramatic. His only child, Joe, Jr., now 10, was listening to the game on a radio in California. The homer came in the tenth inning and won the game for the Yankees, 2-1.

Chicago Cubs, Like Browns, Surprising Many Opponents

(By The Associated Press)
Everybody is cheering for the giddy St. Louis Browns. How about three rags and a tiger for the chipper Chicago Cubs.

Take a look at the National League standings. That club in second place isn't the "dark horse" Phillies. It isn't the "rocket rookies" of the Boston Braves. It isn't even the defending miraclemen New York Giants. C-H-I-C-A-G-O is the word.

A year ago the windy town ran a fever over its White Sox. The go-go Sox were the rage. Paul Richards was the reigning genius. Now the Sox are struggling along in sixth place. Wrigley Field interest is perking up.

Most of the National League owners ridiculed the Cubs all winter for not making deals.

"What can they do with that club?" they asked. "How can they afford to stand pat? Eddie Miskis is the only pro on the roster."

That was the way the conversation ran at the winter meetings and around the training camps, too. Sure they won the Grapefruit League title. But they did that last year. It didn't mean a thing, or did it?

THE CUBS HAVE carried their fine pre-season play into the regular season. With a 6-2 record they're within clutching distance of the lead, trailing Brooklyn by only one game.

Frankie Baumholtz has been a spring sensation. In yesterday's 7-3 victory over Cincinnati, he rapped a triple and two singles to boost his average to .455. He has hit safely in all eight Cub games.

Hank Sauer's home run and two runs batted in boosted him into a second place tie in both departments with three homers and 12 RBIs. Bob Rammazzotti, hitless yesterday, and been so hot at bat

Dick Hoover Slated Here Sunday Night

The Salem Bowling Center's annual handicap bowling tournament will close with a sensation Sunday evening in the 9:15 shift when Dick Hoover, national match game champion in 1951, rolls with one of the best teams in Ohio, the Akron G. I. Machines.

Hoover captains the Machine five which boasts other outstanding bowlers in Gil Smith, 195, Ott Markulis, 206, Bots Bosco, 203, and Clyde Potter, 198. The latter finished fifth last year in the ABC singles. Markulis rolled a 290 game recently in the Akron All-Star loop.

AIDING MARTIAL PLANS

FROM ladies' gloves to combat gloves for NATO soldiers is the production story of the Dardoufas company in Athens, Greece, largest tannery east of Italy. The firm had turned out civilian goods until 1949 when the Marshall Plan helped the plant out with a loan. Within a year, the concern tripled its annual exports and sold fashionable gloves in shops in Australia, Egypt, England and the United States. After the changeover from the Marshall Plan to the Mutual Security Agency, a new emphasis was placed on production to fill western defense needs. In keeping with the switch to military output, the tannery, also backed by Greek private capital, began to produce fur coats, gloves and jackets, leather helmets for pilots and fittings for gas masks. The firm, flourishing under the guidance of Constantine Dardoufas, 65, and his four sons, now is aggressively backing western defense.

Boosters Hold Athletic Dinner

Village To Adopt Fast Time Sunday

COLUMBIANA—About 200 attended the annual athletic banquet tendered Columbiana High School football and basketball squads by the Booster Club in the Methodist Church dining room Thursday evening.

President William B. Longshore of the Boosters presided and extended a welcome to the diners, after which he presented William Arn, who served as master of ceremonies for the program. Paul R. Baldacci, basketball coach of Akron University, the principal speaker, talked on the value of school and college athletics and how to get the most out of them. Coach Homer Pyle of Columbiana High was a pupil of Baldacci in his student days, as were Don Patchen and Harry Case of Columbiana, when they were students at Akron University.

Superintendent H. F. Richmond gave a short talk and Principal D. W. Bailey of the High School gave a report of the activities of the Booster Club during the past year.

IN BEHALF of the basketball team, Charles Ramsey presented Coach Pyle with a gift, and the coach thanked all who helped make the last season a success. Pyle passed out letters and other awards to members of the basketball team, managers and cheer leaders. He predicted good teams next year and announced that he would coach only the football squad next season. The faculty decided that the coaching of both football and basketball was too much for one person and decided to divide the work.

Waldo Ward, faculty manager of athletics, and Fred Roth, freshman coach, also spoke briefly.

Columbiana will go on fast time Sunday morning in common with Youngstown and other eastern Ohio communities. In the absence of any permanent local ordinance on the subject, Mayor W. A. Thomas and members of council decided that there was nothing to do but go along. Sunday church services will be on fast time.

LOCAL BUS lines will move their schedules ahead one hour, operating by the clocks at the same hours as previously. With the exception of Sundays and holidays, when no trips are made, Columbiana Coach Line buses will leave Columbiana for Youngstown at 7 a.m. Mondays through Fridays 7:45 and 9:50 a.m. and 1:15, 3:45 Mondays through Fridays, 4:30 and 6:30 p.m.; leave Youngstown for Columbiana at 7:45 a.m. Mondays through Fridays, and 8:30 a.m. 12:30, 3:30, 4:30 Mondays through Fridays, 5:15 and 9:15 p.m.

Columbiana-Leetonia-Salem buses will leave Columbiana at 6:05, 8:10, 9:55 and 11:25 a.m., and 12:40, 2:45, 5:10, 7:25, 8:10 and 12:40 p.m. The 8:10 a.m. and 12:40 p.m. trips are eliminated on Sundays.

Greyhound buses retain Eastern Standard Time on their official schedules, but their local fast time schedule of departures from the Greyhound station in the Park Hotel is: Local bus to Pittsburgh by way of East Palestine, Darlington and Rochester, 5:12 p.m.; east-bound express buses with no stops between Columbiana and Pittsburgh, 7:35 p.m. and 12:02 and 5:37 a.m.; west-bound express buses with stops at Salem and Akron between Columbiana and Detroit, 12:58 a.m. and 9:08 a.m.

REV. DONALD J. Voelm, new pastor of Grave Evangelical and Reformed Church will begin his pastorate here next week and preach his first sermon Sunday, May 4. Rev. Voelm comes to Columbiana from a six-year pastorate of Hough Avenue Evangelical and Reformed Church, Cleveland. The subject of his first sermon as pastor here will be "Nothing New But the Preacher." Rev. G. S. Strausbaugh, Columbiana, retired minister of the Church of the Brethren, will preach in Grace Church at 10:45 a.m. tomorrow.

The Helen Henderson Past Masters' and Past Patrons' Club of Columbiana Chapter O.E.S., will meet at the home of Mrs. Paul Reeves, 104 W. Wilson St., at 8 p.m. Monday.

Applications for position of fool manager and bath house attendants during the summer are being received by Firestone Park Board. Written applications only will be considered. Motorists who ignore the signs and drive over the lawns of the park are warned that they are subject to prosecution.

The Columbiana County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet with Lisbon auxiliary Monday evening. The Lisbon group will put on a minstrel show. Members of Columbiana auxiliary desiring transportation are to be at the Park Hotel at 7:30 or call the secretary, Mrs. Robert Tieman, phone 2210.

ARBOR EVENT POSTPONED LISBON—The Arbor Day ceremonies scheduled Friday at McKinley School were postponed. Miss Della Wetzel, principal, said the affair will be held at a later date.
